Political and social leaders devote much time and efforts to discuss the tolerance in contemporary world. Having all modern means of communication our society frequently faces problem of quality information both for professionals and ordinary people. Lack of such information causes misunderstanding. Knowledge is a bridge to understanding which gives rise to tolerance. I'll introduce my book “Vietnam. The land of Dragons and Fairies” (<http://www.vietnamculture.fromru.com>) as a good example of quality information resource both for Vietnamese scholars and general readers. First Russian language version of the book was published in Vietnam at the beginning of 2007. International readers, Russian and Vietnamese authorities considered this book as one of the best publications about Vietnam for general information purposes. The book was highly praised by Vietnamese newspapers (Lao Dong, Tuoi tre, etc.) with author's media appearance at VTV1 and VTV4 channels of Vietnamese television. Municipal authorities of Vladivostok city, which is a center of Vietnamese studies in the Far East of Russia, considered the book as a special contribution into promotion of Vietnamese culture and traditional friendship between people of Russia and Vietnam.
