

Talk and Discussion Indonesian General Elections 2024

Schedule:

Thursday, 1 June 2023,
18.00 – 20.00 CET

Venue:

Asien-Afrika-Institut
(ESA-Ost), Room 221
Edmund-Siemers-Allee No.1
Universität Hamburg

Moderator:

Daud Ibrahim

(Political Science / Universität Hamburg /
President - PPI Hamburg)

Speakers:

Wira Atmaja

(Southeast Asian Studies / Universität Hamburg)

Dzikri N. Nahrowi

(Overseas Election Committee / PPLN Hamburg)

Toga Panjaitan

(Indonesian Diaspora in Germany / IASI Jerman, e.V.)

Every five years the Republic of Indonesia holds its General Elections (Pemilihan Umum or Pemilu). The next elections are scheduled to be held on 14 February 2024 (Wednesday).

To be elected are the President, Vice President, People's Consultative Assembly MPR which consists of the DPR and the DPD, and members of local legislative bodies.

It has been formally announced that 17 parties would be eligible to contest the legislative election. And so far, there are three male candidates who are vying for the top job position as the next or the 8th president of the country of nearly 280 million people.

The current President Joko Widodo, or the 7th President of the Republic of Indonesia, won the presidential election two times (2014 and 2019) and is steaming toward the end of his term in office next year. In 1999 the Indonesian constitution was amended to prevent each president serving more than two five-year terms.

To find out more or to learn more about the Indonesian General Elections 2024, please join our event!

You are all invited. This event is open to public!

Coordinator/Contact Person:

yanti.mirdayanti@uni-hamburg.de

Organized by:

Indonesian/Malay/Philippines Studies,
Universität Hamburg